A FREE CHART FROM THE ALCHIMIXE WORKSHOP

The 7 squares of the planets

After Agrippa, Three Books of Occult Philosophy, book II (1533)

♄ Saturn 3×3

4	9	2
3	5	7
8	1	6

Magic sum : 15 · Total : 45
Day : Saturday · Metal : lead
In tradition : time, patience, what lasts

♃ Jupiter 4×4

4	14	15	1
9	7	6	12
5	11	10	8
16	2	3	13

Magic sum : 34 · Total : 136
Day : Thursday · Metal : tin
In tradition : growth, trust, generosity

♂ Mars 5×5

11	24	7	20	3
4	12	25	8	16
17	5	13	21	9
10	18	1	14	22
23	6	19	2	15

Magic sum : 65 · Total : 325
Day : Tuesday · Metal : iron
In tradition : courage, drive, decision

☉ Sun 6×6

6	32	3	34	35	1
7	11	27	28	8	30
19	14	16	15	23	24
18	20	22	21	17	13
25	29	10	9	26	12
36	5	33	4	2	31

Magic sum : 111 · Total : 666
Day : Sunday · Metal : gold
In tradition : radiance, self-confidence

♀ Venus 7×7

22	47	16	41	10	35	4
5	23	48	17	42	11	29
30	6	24	49	18	36	12
13	31	7	25	43	19	37
38	14	32	1	26	44	20
21	39	8	33	2	27	45
46	15	40	9	34	3	28

Magic sum : 175 · Total : 1,225
Day : Friday · Metal : copper
In tradition : harmony, bonds, beauty

☿ Mercury 8×8

8	58	59	5	4	62	63	1
49	15	14	52	53	11	10	56
41	23	22	44	45	19	18	48
32	34	35	29	28	38	39	25
40	26	27	37	36	30	31	33
17	47	46	20	21	43	42	24
9	55	54	12	13	51	50	16
64	2	3	61	60	6	7	57

Magic sum : 260 · Total : 2,080
Day : Wednesday · Metal : quicksilver
In tradition : exchange, study, travel

☽ Moon 9×9

37	78	29	70	21	62	13	54	5
6	38	79	30	71	22	63	14	46
47	7	39	80	31	72	23	55	15
16	48	8	40	81	32	64	24	56
57	17	49	9	41	73	33	65	25
26	58	18	50	1	42	74	34	66
67	27	59	10	51	2	43	75	35
36	68	19	60	11	52	3	44	76
77	28	69	20	61	12	53	4	45

Magic sum : 369 · Total : 3,321
Day : Monday · Metal : silver
In tradition : rhythms, intuition, home

How to read a square

Each cell holds a different number, from 1 to the last. Add up any row, column or diagonal: you always get the same total, the magic sum.

The smallest square belongs to Saturn, the planet that seemed slowest; the largest to the Moon, the fastest.

A chart of culture and tradition, for entertainment and self-reflection. The correspondences are those of tradition; the workshop promises no result. © 2026 Éditions Alchimixe — L'Everest SA. Free to reproduce for personal use.

Where do they come from?

Heinrich Cornelius Agrippa published these seven tables in 1533, in the second book of his Occult Philosophy. Each one is devoted to one of the seven heavenly bodies visible to the naked eye. The 3×3 square is far older: in China, the legend of the Lo Shu has it appear on the shell of a turtle rising from a river. In 1514, Albrecht Dürer engraved a 4×4 square in his famous print Melencolia I.

One planet, one day

Our week still carries the seven planets: Saturday is Saturn's, Sunday the Sun's, Monday the Moon's. In French and other Latin languages the rest remain too: Tuesday is Mars (mardi), Wednesday Mercury (mercredi), Thursday Jupiter (jeudi), Friday Venus (vendredi). Tradition reads each planet's square on its own day.

The secret of the Sun

Add up every number in the square of the Sun, from 1 to 36: you get 666. Each row makes 111. That is one reason this square has fascinated, and worried, so many readers.

What the squares are not

They are not formulas that work on their own. They are tools for reflection and focus, born of the ancients' wonder at numbers. We present them as traditional knowledge, for entertainment and self-reflection.

And your own square?

The workshop calculates the magic square of your date of birth, and offers a daily oracle with the 7 tables.

Your personal magic square → alchimixe.com/en/magic-squares/personal-magic-square/

The oracle of the 7 tables of destiny → alchimixe.com/en/magic-squares/7-tables-of-destiny/

Coming soon from Éditions Alchimixe: The 7 Squares of the Planets, the complete book (seals, hours and days of each planet).

♄	♃	♂	☉	♀	☿	☽
Saturn	Jupiter	Mars	Sun	Venus	Mercury	Moon
Saturday	Thursday	Tuesday	Sunday	Friday	Wednesday	Monday
lead	tin	iron	gold	copper	quicksilver	silver

A chart of culture and tradition, for entertainment and self-reflection. The correspondences are those of tradition; the workshop promises no result. © 2026 Éditions Alchimixe — L'Everest SA. Free to reproduce for personal use.