THE ALCHIMIXE GPS GUIDE · WORK

Change course at the right time.

Your place, your days, your moment:
what the sky shows, and what it won't decide for you.

TO BEGIN

“I can't stand my job anymore.”

Sunday, 6 p.m. The knot in your stomach shows up before the movie ends. You tell yourself everyone feels this way, and that it will pass. How many Sundays have you been telling yourself that?

Before you quit everything, find out what actually hurts.

You can love your work and be worn out by your days. You can love your days and no longer feel you belong. Those are not the same decision. This little book helps you tell them apart, then choose the moment for your next step.

If work has been keeping you awake or making you feel unwell for weeks, talk to your doctor first. This book comes after that.

IF NOTHING CHANGES

What if you waited one more year?

Sunday evening comes around fifty-two times a year.

You tell yourself it'll get better after the holidays, after the project, after the reorganisation. Then the urge to change turns into weariness, and weariness turns into resignation. The hardest part isn't leaving or staying: it's staying without having chosen to.

52	Sunday evenings a year. How many more with that knot in your stomach?
29	and 59: your two Saturn returns, the great reviews of working life.
52	days: your great season of success. Let it pass, and you wait for the next one, a year later.

The good news

Your career path shows in your chart, and the right moment to ask or to leave can be calculated. The rest of this guide shows you how.

HOW WE SEE IT

Your birth chart is your map. Alchimixe is the GPS.

A map shows where you start from. A GPS tells you when to turn.

Your birth chart shows what comes easily to you and where things rub: that's the map. But a map alone won't get you anywhere. You need to know when to act: when to ask, when to apply, when to take the leap, when to wait. That's the GPS's job.

A moment. A form. A bond.

The Moment: reading the weather in the sky. People of old read the sky before they sowed, set out or built.

The Form: giving your intention something to hold on to. An engraved number, a symbol you wear.

The Bond: carrying your intention with others, at the right pace.

> Nothing is new except what has been forgotten.
> Antoine de Saint-Christophe, forty years in his workshop in Herstal

We are not psychics. We won't tell you which career to choose, or whether you'll succeed. We read the sky, and we show you how to read it for yourself.

WHERE IT COMES FROM

What's really wrong

Before you talk about leaving, look at what hurts. Four answers keep coming back, and each one calls for a different step.

1 · The workload

Too many tasks, never done, and the weekend disappears into it.
The step: in the morning, write down your finish time, “6 p.m.”, and leave at 6, whether the file is done or not.

2 · Boredom

Everything runs smoothly, nothing calls to you. “What am I here for?” comes back every Sunday night.
The step: look at what you started at 33, and at 45 (page 8).

3 · One person

A boss, a coworker: the job would be fine without that relationship.
The step: pick the day to talk about it, in the Moon's green window, the window for speaking up.

4 · Not in your place

People call you solid. You wonder whether solid means standing still.
The step: ask for something small, now. A responsibility, not a title.

YOUR MAP

Two rooms not to mix up

Your chart reads like a house with twelve rooms. Two of them speak about work, and the tradition never mixes them up.

The Workshop, the 6th house

Everyday work: the tasks, the habits, the coworkers, what you do without applause. André Barbault places “the constraint of work” here.

The Roof, the 10th house

Your place: your profession, your reputation, what people know you for. It begins at the highest point of the sky at the hour of your birth, the Midheaven. The Sun gives its utmost here, Barbault writes; Jupiter brings ambition and backing; Saturn, well placed, a slow and steady rise.

An empty room is nothing to worry about

Nearly one chart in two has no planet on the Roof. Morin de Villefranche laid down the rule: a house with no planet is read through its key, the planet that rules the sign on its door. Wherever that key is kept, the tradition reads the path your career takes.

A year when you go looking, a year when things come to you. Alexandre Volguine looked at where the Ascendant of the year fell: on the Roof, career changes that depend first on your own drive; elsewhere, things that come your way.

WHAT THE BOOKS SAY

Saturn, and the reversal rule

Saturn on the Roof: slowly, but surely

Barbault is both strict and nuanced. Well aspected, Saturn in the 10th house brings a "slow and sure" rise to a position of responsibility, patiently earned. What brings people down is the opposite: rising too fast, or chasing prestige. The lesson fits in one line: with Saturn, what goes up fast comes back down.

Saturn in the Workshop: rhythm, not heroics

In the 6th house, Barbault reads two paths: strength through steady effort, which bears the best fruit "in the long run", or a hunger for work that wears you out. Saturn respects limits more than bursts of energy. A day with clear limits, repeated a thousand times, does more than three heroic late nights.

When what weighs on you becomes a starting point

Morin de Villefranche left a surprising rule. If the key of the Roof is kept in the Closed Room, the 12th house, ventures become a source of trouble. But in the reverse case:

> The ruler of the 12th house placed on the Roof: troubles become the starting point of honors and remarkable ventures.
> Morin de Villefranche, 17th century

The tradition foresaw the case where what wears you down today becomes your next career.

THE SUNDAY-NIGHT QUESTION

What about your life purpose?

First, an honest word: the phrase is not in the old books.

Neither Morin de Villefranche, nor Volguine, nor Barbault writes "life purpose". The phrase is modern. What the tradition reads is humbler and sturdier: a direction, the way your life leans when you let it.

The key to your Entrance

The planet that rules your Ascendant is the one most your own. Morin, as reported by Barbault: placed in another house, it steers your life toward the matters of that house. In the Safe, what you build yourself; on the Roof, a place to hold; in the Window, faraway places and ideas.

Three steps, without buying anything

1. Write down the room where the key to your Entrance is kept. Did the decisions that mattered go through there?
2. Look at your Roof years: you reach them at 9, 21, 33, 45 and 57. What did you start at 33? At 45?
3. Ask yourself Morin's question: what have you carried without help that could rise to the Roof?

Where is your key kept?

Your date, time and city of birth draw your house: you see the key to your Entrance and the room it's in. Free.

LIFE'S APPOINTMENTS

The ages of work

The Saturn return, around 29 and around 58

Saturn takes twenty-nine and a half years to travel around the sky. When it comes back to its birth position, modern astrology speaks of taking stock. April Elliott Kent describes the first return as a wake-up call: you realize it's too late for some things, and early enough to change course. The second opens the way to another role: the person who passes things on.

It isn't a day, it's a season. Across twelve thousand births simulated with our site's engine, Saturn crosses the exact point three times in four cases out of ten, over nearly ten months. If it felt like “it would never end”, that's because it didn't.

Do the math

Your birth date plus 29 and a half years, then plus 59 years. Look at the twelve months around each: what did you stop, and what did you decide to keep?

Reading the Saturn return as a life passage is modern; none of the old treatises in our library gives it a chapter.

THE GPS

The right time to ask, apply, take the leap

Your year begins on your birthday and divides into seven seasons of 52 days. For work, four of them matter more than the rest.

Season 1 · Recognition

Get noticed, look for backing, ask for a recommendation. You sow; you don't sign yet.

Season 2 · Movement

Changes of occupation are favored. Try things out, meet people, without committing for the long term yet.

Season 5 · Great success

Everything you've sown can bear fruit. Stand up for your projects, ask, negotiate, dare.

Season 7 · Rebuilding

You wrap up, tidy up, take stock. The first stage of getting going again.

And within the month?

The Moon's green window, from the full Moon to the last quarter, is the window for speaking up: persuading, negotiating a contract, going to an interview. The yellow window, after the new Moon, is the window for beginnings. As for the day itself: a lucky day from the Perpetual Table of Days.

Work out your seven seasons

Enter your date of birth: in one second, you know which season you're in.

YOUR MARKERS

Your calendar through April 2027

The new Moon opens the yellow window, the full Moon the green window. Dates in Brussels time (CET).

MONTH	NEW MOON	FULL MOON	LUCKY DAYS	DAYS TO AVOID
November 2026	Nov 9	Nov 24	3, 13, 23, 30	6, 25
December 2026	Dec 9	Dec 24	10, 20, 29	15, 18, 31
January 2027	Jan 7	Jan 22	4, 19, 27, 31	3, 23
February 2027	Feb 6	Feb 21	7, 8, 18	2, 10, 17, 22
March 2027	Mar 8	Mar 22	3, 9, 12, 14, 16	13, 19, 23, 28
April 2027	Apr 7	Apr 21	5, 27	10, 20, 29, 30

How to use it

A request, an interview, an application: place it on a lucky day in the green window, ideally in your season 1 or 5. A launch: a lucky day in the yellow window, outside the three days before the new Moon. On days to avoid, you prepare the file.

Lunations calculated with Swiss Ephemeris and checked against Astronomy Engine. Lucky days and days to avoid: the Perpetual Table of Days. Days to avoid are a symbolic marker: they never replace an urgent medical, legal or financial decision.

THE STEP THAT SETS YOUR DIRECTION

Your step for the month

In the workshop's tradition, an intention becomes real when it is given a moment and a gesture.

1. Name what hurts, in one word. The workload, boredom, one person, or your place.
2. Write down a single step, a small one. A responsibility rather than a title, a meeting rather than a resignation. In the present tense, and for yourself.
3. Choose its window. Speaking up, negotiating: the green one. Starting something: the yellow one.
4. Choose its day. A lucky day within that window (page 11), outside the three days before the new Moon.
5. Set limits on your days. Every morning, your finish time written on a slip of paper. And a day journal: after three months, you'll see your own rhythms.

The ritual, performed for you

The workshop chooses the moment (window, lucky day, your season), the materials and the instrument. The ritual is performed in Herstal and filmed; you receive the video. €54.

A SINGLE INSTANT OPENS YOUR YEAR

Your birthday

> Did you know that a single instant governs your whole year?
> Antoine de Saint-Christophe

Once a year, the Sun returns to the exact position it held at your birth, to the second: this is the solar return. It opens your season of recognition, the season of backing and merit.

At that instant, the sign rising on the horizon depends on where you are. In the example from his manual, Antoine shows one person and twelve possible cities. Two of them concern your career:

10th house · “Happy changes and new possibilities in one's profession.”

6th house · “A new career direction.”

Want to be recognized in your field? We look for the city that places the Ascendant of your year in the 10th house. That's the whole idea behind the birthday trip.

Only one chance a year, Antoine insisted: you can't ask for everything at once. That choice is what gives the whole year its color.

THE LAW OF FORM

Your number and your square

Add up the digits of your date of birth until only one is left. For someone born on March 14, 1985: 1 + 4 + 0 + 3 + 1 + 9 + 8 + 5 = 31, then 3 + 1 = 4. This digit, from 1 to 9, is the basis of all of Antoine's work.

NUMBER	PLANET	COLOR	DAY
2	Mars	Red	Tuesday
3	Sun	Orange	Sunday
4	Venus	Green	Friday
6	Saturn	Violet	Saturday
7	Jupiter	Royal blue	Thursday
8	Mercury	Yellow	Wednesday
9	Moon	Milky white	Monday

1 (Chiron) and 5 (the Earth) have no day in Antoine's table.

Your personal square

Your date laid out in sixteen cells where every line adds up to the same number, following Asker Ali Abiyev's formula. Antoine turns it into an everyday companion: a card, a placemat, the white face of a Buddha's Foot.

Your number in ten seconds

Enter your date: your number, its planet, its color and its day.

A STORY FROM THE WORKSHOP

The journey of destiny

Antoine made the solar return the cornerstone of his teaching. From it he drew a study for business owners, which he called the journey of destiny. The idea came from something he often pointed out: politicians, performers and great business leaders don't leave the setting of their year to chance.

He also liked to recall a remark by Julius Rosenwald, who ran the Sears stores in the United States. Many of his employees, he said, could have run the company just as well as he did.

> The only difference between them and me is that the right opportunities never came their way.
> Julius Rosenwald, as quoted by Antoine

Talent isn't always enough. You also have to be there when the door opens. That's what the GPS is for: knowing when to look.

ON YOUR OWN, OR WITH THE WORKSHOP

What the workshop does for you

This guide gives you what you need to start on your own, today. Some things take an exact calculation, an instrument or skilled hands: that's the workshop's job.

On your own, with this guide

- ✓ Name what's really wrong
- ✓ Work out your seven seasons
- ✓ Prepare your request for the right window
- ✓ Do your gesture of the month

With the workshop

- ✓ Read your Roof and your Workshop (10th and 6th houses)
- ✓ Place your domain at the heart of the Commodore
- ✓ Find the city that puts your year under the Roof
- ✓ Study your personal square, your channel, how to use it

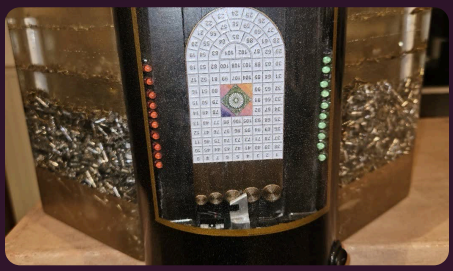
Forty years of craft in Herstal, Belgium. Antoine de Saint-Christophe designs, builds and prepares every creation by hand: talismans, piles, machines, rituals. Nothing comes out of a warehouse.

INSIDE THE HERSTAL WORKSHOP

Forty years of shapes, numbers and light

Antoine's machines are intriguing. Here they are, just as they are, in the workshop.

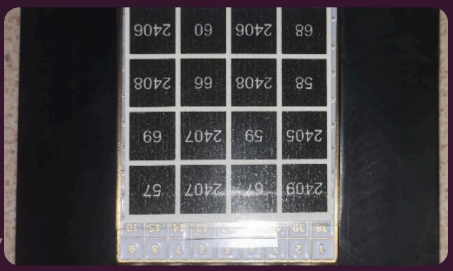
The Commodore's modules, lined up on the workshop shelves.



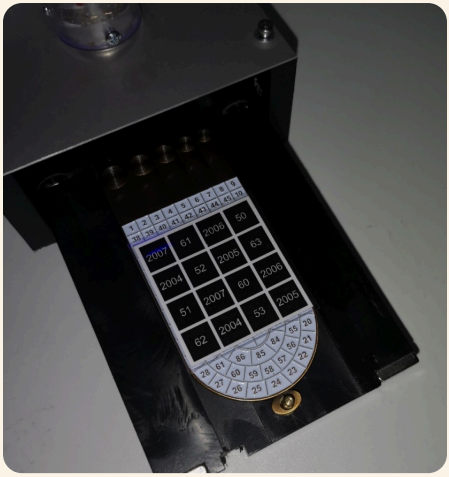
A Commodore module, its square lit up.

The square slides into the module's drawer, like a card.

An oscillator with copper rings.



A personal square mounted on an instrument.



THE WORKSHOP'S CENTREPIECE

Your domain, at the heart of the Commodore

Powerful magnets, a vortex, the Buddha's footprint, orgone, and seventy-two areas of life already programmed. Antoine designed it, built it, took it apart and rebuilt it for years.

- ✓ A visit to the workshop and a presentation of the Commodore, in Herstal
- ✓ An explanation of orgone, the vortex and shape waves
- ✓ Your choice of domain among the seventy-two
- ✓ Your personal square, calculated and checked
- ✓ Your two squares placed in the machine

By appointment

Visit and deposit in Herstal, price on request. A machine supports an intention: it guarantees no result. Not advised if you have a pacemaker (powerful magnets). Without travelling: the study of your square, €54.
