THE ALCHIMIXE GPS GUIDE · MONEY

Your money, at the right time.

Understand your relationship with money,
and choose your days to ask, sign, buy.

TO BEGIN

Why am I always short of money?

You work, you're careful, and at the end of the month there still isn't enough. People talk to you about blocks, about mindset, sometimes even about a curse.

A block is not a curse.

Part of the situation is out of your hands. A low salary, a separation, rent that's too high: none of these is a mindset problem. The other part often comes down to a single habit, settled in long ago. That habit is what this little guide is about, along with the moment you choose to act.

Late bills, debts piling up? Free help exists. In Wallonia (Belgium), the 1718 line points you to a debt mediation service, and most CPAS (public social welfare centres) have one. In France, the Points conseil budget can support you, and the Banque de France handles over-indebtedness cases. Be wary of companies that charge to consolidate your debts. Feeling overwhelmed? IF NOTHING CHANGES

What if every month ended the same way?

The problem isn't always the amount. It's that everything repeats: the same money slipping away, the same decision put off.

You push the request to next month. You sign in a rush, at the wrong moment. You buy when you're exhausted, you back out when you're scared. Month after month, it isn't the big mistakes that weigh you down: it's the small decisions made at random.

3	Mercury retrograde periods in 2027: three times when tradition advises against signing.
1	red window every month: the week for foundations, home, and what has to last.
52	days: your great season of success, once a year. The time to ask.

The good news

Your relationship with money shows in your chart, and the good days to sign can be calculated. The rest of this guide gives them to you.

HOW WE SEE IT

Your birth chart is your map. Alchimixe is the GPS.

A map tells you where you're starting from. A GPS tells you when to turn.

Your birth chart shows how you handle money: keeping it, letting it slip away, counting it, forgetting about it. That's the map. But a map doesn't tell you when to ask for a raise, sign a lease or make a big purchase. That's the GPS's job.

A Moment. A Form. A Bond.

The Moment: reading the weather in the sky. The ancients read the sky before sowing, setting out or building.

The Form: giving your intention something to hold on to. An engraved number, a square drawn by hand.

The Bond: carrying your intention together with others, at the right pace.

> Nothing is new except what has been forgotten.
> Antoine de Saint-Christophe, forty years at his workshop in Herstal

We are not psychics. We make no predictions about your income. We read the sky, and we show you how to read it for yourself.

WHAT KEEPS REPEATING

The four most common blocks

The word "block" sounds frightening: it suggests something outside you is holding you back. Most of the time it's simpler than that: a habit, a fear, or an old sentence you grew up with. Which one sounds like you?

1 · The leak

Money goes out, and looking hurts, so you don't look.
The step: one set day a month, take out every bill and look at it. Not to tighten your belt: just to know.

2 · The ceiling

You work, you hold on, and nothing moves. Often there's a request you've never made.
The step: write that request down, and choose a day for it (pages 9 to 11).

3 · The fear of going without

Even when things are fine, the worry stays.
The step: know what you have, in black and white. A figure is easier to live with than a fear.

4 · Loyalty

Money is dirty, or it's for other people. These sentences come from childhood and still decide for you.
The step: write down the sentence you heard, and ask yourself whether it's still true.

The money test

YOUR MAP · THE 2ND HOUSE

The Safe doesn't say how much. It says how.

The 2nd house is the Safe of your chart: what you own, what comes from you. The astrologer André Barbault sets out a rule of caution that we make our own: it doesn't say whether you'll make a fortune, or how much you'll have. It describes the way you behave with money.

What a planet changes in the Safe

The Sun: a taste for living large; good at bringing money in, and at spending it.

The Moon: well placed, money comes to you more than you go after it; poorly placed, income that rises and falls.

Mercury: a feel for transactions; at worst, scattering yourself too thin.

Venus: a link between love and money; a spare wheel when things get tight.

Mars: money takes great effort; a leaning toward impulse spending.

Jupiter: ease with money, enjoying what you have; when badly aspected, it goes as fast as it came.

Saturn: a feeling of being short, even when the account is full; well aspected, slow and steady acquisitions.

> In 1428, short of money, Charles VII had to give his new boots back to the shoemaker.
> André Barbault, to illustrate Saturn in the Safe

An empty Safe? That's the case in nearly one chart out of two, and no book reads poverty into it: we then look at the planet that holds its key (next page).

YOUR MAP

What your chart looks at for money

Who holds the key to the Safe

The planet that rules the sign on the door of the Safe holds its key. The room where that planet has settled shows which way your money travels: your relationship, your career, your home. This is the great lesson of Morin de Villefranche, as reported by Henri Selva.

The Cellar, the 8th house

Opposite the Safe, the Cellar keeps the money that passes through other people: the joint account, the mortgage, what you're owed and what you owe. The Safe is what comes from you; the Cellar is what flows with others.

Jupiter

In the Safe, Barbault sees its best position for money, with a downside: spending it all. In the Cellar, money often comes through a spouse, a business partner, a family. On the Roof (the 10th house), you rise through the ranks and through the people who back you.

The Part of Fortune

A point calculated from the Sun, the Moon and the Ascendant, which Vettius Valens placed at the heart of his work. In the 2nd house, luck comes through the resources you build for yourself.

WHAT POWERFUL PEOPLE ASK

Not "what?" but "when?"

Most people ask astrology: what's going to happen to me? People who make decisions ask three other questions.

When?
Which day, which hour, to sign, launch, announce, set off.

Where?
In which city, which place, is the sky most favorable.

With whom?
Which associates, which partners, which alliances.

In the 1980s, at the White House, Nancy Reagan had part of the President's schedule set by a San Francisco astrologer, Joan Quigley: the dates of trips, speeches, press conferences. The story broke in 1988 in the memoirs of former Chief of Staff Donald Regan, and Nancy Reagan confirmed it in her own.

> Not to know what to do: to know when.
> Billionaires and astrology, Alchimixe workshop

They aren't looking for a prophecy. They want every possible advantage on decisions that carry real weight. Yours carry weight too: a lease, a loan, a raise.

THE GPS

Choosing the day it all begins

Everything that begins has a birth sky: a contract is born when the last signature goes on it, a business the day you first turn the key. Choosing that sky is electional astrology, probably the oldest practical astrology there is.

What we look at first

The Moon: waxing to launch and grow; waning to finish, clear out, settle.

The ruler of the matter: for money, Jupiter and the 2nd house; for a contract or anything in writing, Mercury.

Your own chart: the best day in general isn't necessarily the best day for you.

Three common mistakes

Signing while Mercury is retrograde without knowing it. Launching everything under a waning Moon. Choosing a "pretty date" (8/8, 12/12) instead of a good sky.

The Moon windows and seasons of money

Each month, the Moon opens four windows of about a week each. Two of them speak directly to money.

Red · wealth
From the last quarter to the new Moon. Material goods, help you receive, the home, anything meant to last.

Green · intelligence
From the full Moon to the last quarter. Persuading, convincing, negotiating a contract.

And to launch something new, the yellow window, from the new Moon to the first quarter.

Your seven seasons

Your year begins on your birthday and divides into seven seasons of 52 days. Three of them matter for money:

Season 1, recognition: look for support, get your merits recognized. You sow; you don't sign yet.

Season 4, ideas: prepare, write, but wait a little longer before buying property.

Season 5, great success: the strongest period of the year for your affairs. A project to defend, a raise to ask for: this is the time.

Enter your date of birth: in one second, you'll know which season you're in.

YOUR MARKERS

Your calendar through April 2027

The new Moon opens the yellow window, the full Moon the green one. Dates in Brussels time (CET).

MONTH	NEW MOON	FULL MOON	LUCKY DAYS	AVOID
November 2026	Nov 9	Nov 24	3, 13, 23, 30	6, 25
December 2026	Dec 9	Dec 24	10, 20, 29	15, 18, 31
January 2027	Jan 7	Jan 22	4, 19, 27, 31	3, 23
February 2027	Feb 6	Feb 21	7, 8, 18	2, 10, 17, 22
March 2027	Mar 8	Mar 22	3, 9, 12, 14, 16	13, 19, 23, 28
April 2027	Apr 7	Apr 21	5, 27	10, 20, 29, 30

Mercury retrograde: until November 13, 2026, then from February 9 to March 3, 2027. If you have the choice, keep contracts and technical purchases for afterward.

How to use it

A request or a negotiation: a lucky day in the green window. A purchase meant to last: a lucky day in the red window. Always outside the three days before the new Moon, and outside Mercury retrograde. On the days to avoid, tidy up, prepare your figures, and wait.

Lunations and Mercury retrograde calculated with Swiss Ephemeris and checked with Astronomy Engine. Lucky days and days to avoid: the Perpetual Table of Days, a symbolic marker that never replaces an urgent, legal or financial decision.

THE RITUAL OF DIRECTION

Your step for the month

A ritual can mark a decision. But the decision is still yours to make: to look, to ask, to change a habit.

1. Open the drawer. On the same day each month, take out every bill and look at it. You feel better about what you have when you know what you have.
2. Write your request in one sentence. A raise, a late payment, a meeting at the bank. Clear, precise, for you.
3. Choose its day. A lucky day in the right window (page 11), outside Mercury retrograde and outside the three days before the new Moon.
4. Prepare your arguments. Your figures and your opening sentence. That's where most of the request is won or lost. Setting a date makes you prepare.
5. Name what comes from others. To your spouse, your business partner, your family: saying once what comes from them avoids the unspoken unease, and the spending that slips by.

Try it with your birth year

Two minutes, a sheet of paper and a pencil.

1. Take your birth year (four digits, at least two of them different).
2. Arrange its digits from largest to smallest, then from smallest to largest.
3. Subtract the smaller number from the larger one. Start again with the result.

> Antoine, born in 1955: 9551 − 1559 = 7992 · 9972 − 2799 = 7173 · 7731 − 1377 = 6354 · 6543 − 3456 = 3087 · 8730 − 0378 = 8352 · 8532 − 2358 = 6174. Then 7641 − 1467 = 6174, forever.

You'll reach 6174 in seven steps at most. Every time. An Indian schoolteacher, Dattatreya Ramchandra Kaprekar, discovered it in 1949, in Devlali. Add up its digits: 6 + 1 + 7 + 4 = 18, and 1 + 8 = 9, the number Antoine calls the number of fulfillment.

The Kaprekar pile

From this number, Antoine built a column one meter tall: nine double hemispheres, nine liters of moving water, nine indigo lights. A wish is placed at the top for a number of days calculated with the constant: the steps for your birth year, plus those for the current year, multiplied by nine.

THE LAW OF FORM

The Kubera Kolam, the threshold square

Every morning in southern India, women draw a pattern in rice flour on the threshold of their home: the kolam. Tradition says it welcomes prosperity into the house. One of them isn't made of curves but of numbers. It is dedicated to Kubera, the guardian of treasures.

27	20	25
22	24	26
23	28	21

Every row, every column, every diagonal adds up to 72. Take 19 away from each cell and you find the Lo Shu, the square of China's sacred turtle. For Antoine, it is the Lo Shu "on the third octave". And 7 + 2 = 9.

Antoine's design

In the center, your personal square, built from your date of birth. All around it, like a frieze on a threshold, repeated Kubera Kolams. As its title, the one he gave it: "Wealth, abundance, prosperity". Your personal frequency, framed by the threshold.

A square, like any lucky charm, is a symbolic support drawn from tradition. It accompanies an intention; it guarantees nothing. And never borrow money to buy a support.

Build your personal square for free, and see it at the heart of the Kubera Kolam.

A STORY

The queen who had her date chosen

In November 1558, Elizabeth I became Queen of England. Before setting the date of her coronation, she called on John Dee, the most remarkable scholar in her kingdom: mathematician, geographer, adviser to the navy, librarian, and astrologer.

Dee studied the sky and chose a date: January 15, 1559. That was the day Elizabeth was crowned at Westminster. She would reign for forty-four years, a reign remembered in history as the Elizabethan golden age.

You can debate forever the part the stars played in all this. But one fact remains: one of the most skillful rulers in history did not leave the moment her reign began to chance.
